

Starting a career as an architect or business analyst?

Real IRM is looking for Informatics graduates to join our consulting team.

Put the theory you've learnt at university into practice on our one-year internship programme.

You will learn to create business process and/or data models, facilitate workshops, and document requirements, as well as gain exposure to clients at various levels of seniority, with different specialities and from different industry sectors. At the same time you will be immersed in industry-leading methodologies and frameworks such as TOGAF® and The Zachman Framework™; and have the opportunity to participate in The Open Group forums and workgroups with experts from around the globe.

We offer interns premier training courses in enterprise architecture frameworks, tools and techniques to the value of R25 000 to supplement the on-the-job shadowing/mentoring from our consultants.

In addition to the technical skills you will learn, your internship will help you to develop some of the softer skills and competencies you will need for the work world.

You will earn a market-related salary while developing the skills needed to kick start your career.

To apply for an internship position, please send your CV and academic transcripts to recruitment@realirm.com
